A Message from Aura International Group, Inc.

2007 was an incredible time for sales at Aura International Group, and we expect 2008 will be a banner year. We appreciate all the valuable feedback you've been receiving from your clients; we plan to include that information every so often in our new monthly update newsletter, which is sent to you when an order is placed and shipped.

Our growth is largely due from the reviews we've received from your clients and their continued success from the use of the Aura Patch Therapies. We will continue to review the results and find ways to improve the therapies and add new patches to support your client's needs.

In early 2008, we plan to upgrade our website by adding a new front page, as well as adding new products to our on-line order section as well. Our objective is to provide current information on the development of our products, so you can have a better understanding of the protocol to be used for each patch and the use of them for the best results for your clients.

Our patches are about restoring health. It's a simple concept that begins with energy. If the energy fails in the human body, disease will follow within three years. The therapy patch system works so well that we promote them as a practice builder. Many doctors have dramatically increased their practice by using the patches along with their normal health programs. The combination of traditional medicine and our patches, which are considered complementary medicine has shown faster recovery times and happier patients.

Also, in early 2008 we will be upgrading the way our patches look by adding our new logo, and we plan to include a number that will be printed on the front that will correspond with each therapy. This number will help identify the patch when customers are wearing multiple patches or when a patch is accidentally taken off. We also plan to add a new envelope that will hold the plastic sleeve and will display a list of all the patches with their corresponding number.

PRODUCT UPDATE

The Children's Mental Focus Patch

Made exclusively for children and adults who have been diagnosed with Autism, ADD and ADHD

In 2007, the Children's Mental Focus Foundation received a generous donation from someone who wants the foundation to continue research with the growing challenge of autism, ADD and ADHD. This person will remain nameless for now, but her charitable donation brought a breath of fresh air into our foundation, and we appreciate her kind contribution. We offer her our upmost humble "Thank You". It's people like her that we admire the most for taking the time to find out about our technology and has the resources to help us. For more information on this discovery you can visit our website: www.childrensmentalfocusfoundation.org.

CMFF has been working with several doctors developing protocols to help children and some adults to cope with their health challenges. The CMFF patch has shown great results. This method of therapy is unique in its ability to carry communication that is programmed into the "energetic patch" which the person wears. This kind of therapy uses no drugs and is absolutely chemical free, and can be used in combination with any regular on-going treatment.

We recently received a story from a very special mother. Her story is just one of several hundred mothers and families who are looking for options. This mother shared her observation and experiences to her doctor who is helping her manage her everyday life around a loved one who has been diagnosed with autism.

New Protocol Update for the CMF patch

The original Protocol for the Children's Mental Focus Patch was to use the patch for 6 months and then the Recovery patch for 6 months. However, what we are finding is that when the Recovery patch, which is a rapid healing patch, is used with the CMF patch the improvement in the patient seems to be quicker.

Our research found that while the child is on the CMF patch the R1H2 virus in the brain dies and leaves sensitive tissue in the brain. When there is sensitive tissue in the brain other pathogens can infiltrate that area. However when a Recovery patch is used in combination with the CMF patch the healing process speeds up so other viruses or parasites cannot affect the brain.

Now, if it is not affordable for the patient to use both the Recovery Patch and the CMF patch at the same time the original protocol can still be adhered to by using the CMF patch for 6 months and then the Recovery patch for 6 months. Dr Hunt does state that is more beneficial for the patient to be on the CMF and the Recovery patch at the same time.

STORIES TO SHARE ABOUT WEIGHT LOSS

At a time when most people are looking for ways to help manage their weight problem, Aura International Group offers a unique patch for your clients. It's the Weight Loss Management patch and below are two testimonials to this remarkable patch.

I tend to be a skeptic when it comes to products that promote weight loss. But I must say I have been stunned at the results I have had using the weight management patch. Prior to using the patches I had given up on the idea of losing my flabby stomach. No matter how much I exercised and watched my diet I could not get rid of the flab. Since using the weight loss patches my stomach has gotten flatter than I could ever imagined it to get at my age without a tummy tuck. My husband and I went on a cruise and ate foods we don't usually eat and I didn't gain weight.

Thanks for such a great product!!

I. Faber ND

First of all I must say the weight management patches are AMAZING! I have tried other products that made me feel miserable and gave me the "jittery" feeling that most diet pills do. But the patches don't do that, which was one fear I had when I first put them on. When I started wearing the patches regularly I was a dress size 12 after wearing the patches for a month in I'm down to a size 10. I've noticed a marked difference in my waist and thighs (especially my thighs)! Which has always been a problem area for me to loose weight. People who haven't seen me in a few months cannot believe the difference! I'm so pleased with the results. I hope you find this helpful. These patches have made me and many others a believer in your products.

Sincerely,

M. McGuinn

Hi Dr Steve,

Here is the information you requested for Cody's continuing autism/SI dysfunctions:

These are very common symptoms/behaviors for the ADD/autistic/sensory integration dysfunction children...I know all these signs/symptoms/behaviors tell a story about the child...so here are the details...edit what isn't necessary. Note: he has really come a long-long way with all the holistic/therapy work we have done with him over the years. So the below issues are a walk in the park compared to what we use to go through.

Extremely fidgety and unable to concentrate during school. Even though he is encouraged to keep his hands busy (ie., drawing, etc.) while being taught. Still not too interested in reading or writing. Can process math equations quickly if he doesn't over think it. Struggles with recall from recent lessons. Today, he bounced on a large exercise ball...to help with the excess energy that builds up during school...he still could not stay quiet or his body quiet...everything (including his mouth) was going...drumming, bouncing, humming, talking, interrupting...constantly attempting to stimulate his neuro senses and sense of control. He gets bored very easily and has an extremely short attention span unless it's something he truly loves like a movie, playing with friends, video games. I teach quickly and verbally...make it as fun and interesting as possible. Hands on projects are going on all the time. So it's not a painfully dull learning time at all. When school is finally over and he is free to go outside and really expend his energy...he doesn't...he goes straight for the TV or DS and plays video games or watches a show...not moving...or making a single sound. Then after awhile he bounces back up again and MUST play outside with his friends, and the cycle begins all over again. He wore two children's focus patches today.

Tactile sensory still out of sync: Doesn't like any sleeves on his shirts, must be soft material... lightweight so he won't get too hot. Wears only basketball shorts, no long pants (too hot), tags must be cut off so there is no itching. Refuses to take showers regularly. An act of congress is needed to get him into the shower. Almost a full blown panic attack happens before he gets in. Once in, he is okay. It's getting him in there that is the major chore. In years past when his sensory integration/autism was really bad...it was hours of screaming before, during and after taking a 'tepid' shower or bath. It was a traumatic experience for anyone involved. So he has improved in that he doesn't scream anymore...just procrastinates for days...until we all can't stand the odor...and he has no choice but to take one. Same with clothes...wants to wear the same thing 24/7. Don't touch his hair or cut it. Don't ask him to brush his teeth or hair. Wash his hands or face. All difficult to get done.

Food issues: very rigid in what he will eat. Eats the same thing over and over. Doesn't like variety/vegetables or fruits...especially anything green. Will not 'try' new things. Doesn't eat a lot or regularly. Must be reminded to eat. Goes too long in between eating...so blood sugar falls and he falls apart. He does like the Kid Intra Max...a lot. Also, has texture/smell/sight issues...if a food looks, smells or feels a certain way (no rhyme or reason) he will not go near it and actually gets nauseous. He has pancreas/hypothalamus problems with processing carbs/gluten/sugar/dairy. Gets lots of stomach aches from food issues, nerves, not eating when he should, etc. Has weight issues, although they have improved as he has gotten taller and continuing with enormous physical activities.

Pain Tolerance: He can turn off the pain when he is involved in something like sports. Can't feel the pain in his feet at all while playing, but the moment he stops and comes in he feels the pain even more intensely and completely falls apart. Same with his feelings...if he gets his feelings hurt (which he does very easily), he overreacts to situations, people and touching (if Chris thumps his arm or shoves him in normal guy fashion, Cody comes unglued and it takes hours to calm him down). He gets preoccupied and over sensitized to his injuries...showing you his bruise from running into something over and over again. He also doesn't heal well...scars easily and has the cut or sore for weeks instead of a few days. Gets overly heated/sweaty to the point of being painful (hypothalamus). Joints/muscles ache constantly...'growing pains' never stop...especially in his feet/ankles/legs. Requires special fitting shoes for ball/arch/achilles support.

Auditory: Often shouts or speaks in a loud voice. Seems surprised if you ask him to speak softer. Frequently makes repetitive noises or sounds (or movements)...doesn't seem to possess an internal 'stop' button. I have to tell him to stop. Fails to follow through on verbal requests. Needs directions repeated. Confuses spoken words and misses some sounds.

Enlarged tonsils: snores extremely loud during the night. Candida/bacteria: gets a very chapped (almost bleeding) ring around his mouth. Gets rashes easy under his arms and folds of skin.

Behavioral: Can control himself and his emotions when out in public (playing on his baseball team, over at a friend's home, in public places) for quite some time without incident. He is dearly loved by his friends, teammates and parents alike. I can expect a melt down after these social outings. He tends to be explosive, cries easily, gets angry and stays angry, gets his feelings hurt easily, must be stimulated with activity or he gets bored and tends to irritate those around him with his behavior, must have a lot of 'mom' time, lots of physical contact with mom...holding my hand, hugging, sitting right next to me, etc. He has vestibular imbalances that require a lot of stimulation.

Well, that's all the negative stuff (which we really try to work through on as positive note as possible)...he is a really sweet, sweet boy and when he is balanced and happy.

Hope this was helpful (and way too long...so sorry)...the above symptoms are classic...if we can get a patch personalized for kids like this...wow...awesome...!

Thanks for everything...your support has been tremendous and I value you so much...thanks for wanting me to work with you. I will do all I can to make things work well...and be successful. You are the best!

C. Mount

This child has just started using the Children's Mental Focus patch so because this is a 6 month therapy we will follow the continuing progress of this child in a future newsletter.

A PERSON WITH A VISION

Nikola Tesla

Nikola Tesla (Serbian Scientist), the greatest genius since Leonardo da Vinci. Few people are even aware of the man who invented the 20th century. His ideas and inventions were credited by others.

For example — Nikola invented x-rays (credited to Roentgen), radio (credited to Marconi), the microwave oven, the speedometer, automobile ignition system, basics behind radar, fluorescent bulb, electron microscope, neon lights and on top of all this, Tesla designed the first hydro-electric power plant in Niagara Falls (invented alternating currents).

Tesla's biggest competitor was Thomas Edison, who did everything in his power to prove Tesla wrong and to erase him from history books. Tesla's ideas were so extreme that the scientific community thought he was a lunatic. He believed that both voice and image could be transmitted through the air (in the late 1800's), which of course was true, since today we have the Wireless Internet!

COMING SOON

A New Design to the Aura Patches

In view of several requests, we are changing the image of our patches by adding a new logo to the Aura Patches, and introducing a number that will be printed on the front of each patch that will correspond with its therapy. This number will help identify the patch's therapy when customers are wearing multiple patches or when a patch is missing.

In addition, we are adding a new envelope that will hold the plastic sleeve. The envelope will be printed with a list of all the patches showing their number as to identify each therapy. This new packaging concept will help customers who are concerned with identification issues and lost patches. The envelope will have generic information on the use of the patches and where to wear them.

Look for this in early 2008.

From Dan Glazer, our Sales Rep in the Atlanta Area

Here in Georgia, the feedback I have gotten from the practitioners concerning our first conference call in December was how wonderful it was for them to actually talk with Dr. Hunt. For the two years I have been working for Aura International Group and spreading the word here, they have heard me constantly talk of Dr. Hunt and to be able to talk directly with him was educational and beneficial. It is so important that we hear the feedback and experiences from you, the practitioner so we can improve and develop new patches.

From talking with my practitioners in the Georgia area they loved the chance to ask Dr. Hunt questions and believe me he thoroughly enjoys answering them. As I talk and call on the practitioners I support I am going to keep reminding them to compile their questions for the phone conference each month.

Being out in the field in Georgia and talking with other practitioners in the surrounding areas I have come upon many stories of success and how much the patches help their patients and support their practice. I am always stressing to the practitioners that the Aura Patches is a supportive therapy to their main therapies. But another important thing to remember is that the Aura Patches are energetically supporting to all therapies even if it is not the main one, it is designed to raise the resonating frequency of the body while your other therapies are doing their job.

While traveling around Atlanta and Georgia I am constantly calling on the practitioners I support and hear many success stories. I have a Colon Hydro therapist here in Atlanta who has weekly patients come in to get a foot bath detox and then they buy a couple of Organ Cleanse patches each week to carry them through to the next session. The Organ Cleanse and the Foot detoxification are a tremendous combination. I have a Homeopathic doctor who has flu patients; she does all her treatments on the patients and then supports her therapies with the Flu Patches. (Two flu patches on the left shoulder within the first 8 to 10 hours and the symptoms should be gone). However, continue the two flu patches, changing them every 3 days.

Just a few months ago I had an MD in Roswell Georgia call and tell me she has bad allergies in the fall. Well, she said that she didn't have any Seasonal Best Patches in stock so she used an H-GH4 patch...it didn't take long for her symptoms to go away. I myself had the same experience with the H-GH4. I have suffered from rag weed allergies for 40 years. I used the H-GH4 for 5 months planning to go on the Seasonal Best Patch in the fall, but I didn't have to as my allergy was cleared up. I had 2 different therapists call me and tell me the H-GH4 patch helped with clear up their patient's hemorrhoids.

I had another doctor call and tell me the H-GH4 helped clear up his wife's acne. Now, the H-GH4 patch is not designed for any of these conditions. It is actually designed to do an overall body healing, the H-GH4 patch has a tremendous amount of rejuvenation frequencies and anti-oxidants therefore, while all of the patches work very well by themselves, the H-GH4 does tend to boost the other patches. If you have a patient with a chronic condition, it is good to put them on an H-GH4 to heal the rest of the body, while the other patches go to work on the condition it is directed to energetically address. The H-GH4 is truly the wonder patch. I have many therapists who cannot keep it in stock it's so popular.

The important thing to remember is that the Aura Patches are not what heals or cures. The energy field of the body absorbs the frequency of the patch, but only if needed, then the body replicates it so the body heals itself along with your main therapies, which are always at the forefront.

Thank you so much for allowing Aura to be part of your practice.

Research and Development is our Future!

EMR Technologies, Ltd. is the research and development arm of our company. Our facility has been recently certified by the State of Nevada as an environmental testing company. We are dedicated to our industry where we conduct bio-resonance applications and manufacture several different products utilizing proprietary bio-resonance and frequency technology.

EMR has developed a number of applications that have been turned into commercial products that are used in the nutritional supplement industry, health and wellness, as well as microchips to reduce harmful radiation in cell phones, and reducing toxin emissions in automobiles.

Aura Patch System™

The Aura Patch is a small metalized energy patch that attaches to the body and presents a field of supportive and restorative energy back into the body's energetic field. The AURA patches are an energy delivery system. They provide specific energy patterns that are found in people with abundant good health.

By restoring these energy patterns, we have observed a positive change in people's health. The patches are programmed with completely natural frequencies with no negative side-effects. There is no chemistry that passes through the skin. This is the same energy that is found inside the healthiest people on earth.

Cell Phone Battery Booster™

The Cell Phone Disk is a revolutionary discovery that will defend against electro-pollution from cell phones and mobile phones, and also enhances the battery energy for longer use between charges. The proprietary process enables the cell phone chip to emit neutralizing frequencies that correspond and eliminate harmful electromagnetic frequencies (EMF) and electromagnetic radiation (EMR) as well as improving battery life. The Phone chip prevents the body's energies from disturbances through environmental influences such as harmful EMF electromagnetic fields.

The Crystal Blue Air Chip™

The CBAC has been tested in Korea, Mexico and United States for gas efficiencies and improved toxic emissions. The chip uses a magnetic-like energy field, which raises the quantum coherent level of the energetic structure of petroleum. This conditioning increases the energetic structure of the fuel and neutralizes the toxic elements while octane and oxygen energetics are increased prior to combustion taking place. The result is a dramatic reduction in automobile smog emissions and an increase in performance, (both torque and horsepower).

Bed Time Magic™

Bed Time Magic™ One patch attaches to the inside of your pillow case to help restore your normal sleep cycles; it is energetically programmed with restoration energy to achieve balance for a restful night's sleep. This patch has been upgraded from the original Bedtime Patch. You simply place the patch inside your pillow case and it will last up to 6 days. (The package is a two month supply). This product comes in a new four color commercial package, and is programmed with the same restoration energy as the Bedtime patch. It stimulates the Sleep Cycle (Melatonin Release). Increases coping skills for Stress, Anxiety and Depression, achieves Theta & Delta Sleep Levels for (Healing).
